RESULTS OF OPERATIONS

The net asset value of the Fund decreased by $25.9 million to $1,296.9 million from March 31, 2018 to September 30, 2018. The Fund had net redemptions of $78.8 million during the period. The portfolio's performance increased assets by $52.9 million. Class A units returned 3.8% after fees and expenses for the six-month period ended September 30, 2018. Over the same time period, the Fund's benchmark returned 2.6%. The benchmark is a combination of the MSCI World Total Return Index - 60% and the J.P. Morgan Global Government Bond Total Return Index - 40%.

The performance of the Fund's other classes is substantially similar to that of Class A units, except for differences in the structure of fees and expenses. For the returns of the Fund's other classes, please refer to the "Past Performance" section.

The global economy has continued to expand, but with higher uncertainty and less in sync than anticipated earlier in the year. Growth is slowing in the Euro area, Japan, China and the United Kingdom. U.S. President Donald Trump's "America First" policy also suggests we are in store for a deepening trade war. Given the high levels of debt (both private and public), rising interest rates and indications of further stimulus removal, one wonders if the growth being experienced currently is "as good as it gets" this late in the cycle. There are also signs of inflation, particularly in the U.S., with expectations rising along with bond yields. Rising rates have yet to be an obstacle to the U.S. equity market achieving new highs this year, however, rising interest rates tend to weigh on equity valuations over a cycle.

Within global equity markets, information technology, consumer discretionary and health care stocks have led this year. Additionally, it is a small subset of stocks (i.e. FANG stocks) within these sectors that have driven the market's gains in 2018. While not making a judgement on the investment merits of any of these stocks, many are currently priced for perfection. Regionally, investors have shown their preference for U.S. stocks over international, with emerging markets particularly weak. Investors have sought U.S. stocks given their perceived safe haven status and the high growth prospects that have attracted the lion's share of investor capital recently. The U.S. market trades at a significant premium to non-U.S. markets.

During the six-month period ending September 30, 2018, the Fund had positive performance and outperformed its benchmark. The positive absolute returns were driven by both the equity and fixed-income portions of the portfolio.

Top contributors to performance included SES SA, FTI Consulting Inc., DistributionNOW, Nutrien Ltd. and Ericsson Inc. Top detractors were Aryzta AG, HeidelbergCement AG, Varex Imaging Corp., DIA and Basilea Pharmaceutica AG.

New holdings in the period were BAE Systems PLC and Carnival Corp., while Accor SA, Aryzta AG and L Brands Inc. were sold.

BAE Systems is a global defence, aerospace and security company that is headquartered in the U.K. The company is among the largest defence contractors in the world. Beyond its well-established positions in air, land and maritime defence technology, the firm has a growing position in cyber security.

Carnival is the world's largest cruise company with a fleet of 102 ships visiting more than 700 ports around the world. Carnival's 10 leading brands offer a wide range of vacation experiences from value to luxury. This is a name that is well known to Black Creek. We have owned it previously, sold our holding due to valuation and now brought it back given a more attractive valuation opportunity.

Accor, a leading multinational hotel group, was sold for valuation reasons following a period of strong market performance. A portion of our thesis – Accor transitioning to an asset light platform – has also come to fruition with the sale of a majority interest in its owned assets to investors. We also have concerns around recent merger and acquisition activity spreading management's focus too thin.

Aryzta, the global leader in par-baked technology, has been a notable detractor and we often add to companies on weakness. However, as a firm we have decided we will not go beyond 10% of a company's free float and therefore could not take a meaningful position within our global portfolios. We believe the company's turnaround plan will take a significant amount of time (U-shaped vs. V-shaped) to execute but we will monitor their success. In the interim, we are opting for more attractive alternatives in our global opportunity set.

L Brands is an international company that sells lingerie, personal care and beauty products, apparel and accessories. Our outlook on L Brands changed after it provided a sales update in July 2018 on its Victoria's Secret brand. The company announced that its semi-annual sale was disappointing and that it had to extend the sales promotion period and reduce prices further to clear inventory, because customers were becoming accustomed to promotions. This indicates that consumers' perception of the brand has changed. We decided to exit the position following this announcement but will continue to monitor the company for an improvement in both sales and profitability.

Within fixed-income markets, it has been a lot of the same over the past six months, with high-yield credit outperforming investment-grade credit, both of which outperformed government bonds. Within the high-yield market, bonds with the riskiest credit ratings (CCC rated) have continued to outperform bonds with higher credit ratings (B, BB rated). In a similar manner to equities, emerging market bonds have been the laggards.

From a performance perspective, the fixed-income portion of your Fund delivered a positive return over the reporting period. On a relative basis, the Fund benefitted from holding high yield corporate bonds and not holding European or Japanese government bonds.

Black Creek Global Balanced Fund

Management Report of Fund Performance for the period ended September 30, 2018

In the reporting period, bonds rated non-investment grade (high yield) outperformed those rated investment grade as economic activity has remained robust and high demand from yield-seeking investors has outstripped supply. In fact, U.S. high-yield bond spreads (difference between corporate bond yields and Treasury bond yields of the same maturity) have narrowed to levels not seen since 2007. However, it is important to note that outright yields in the sector remain above cycle lows. U.S. investment-grade credit spreads declined (became more expensive) modestly over the reporting period but are not back to the lows recorded earlier this year. Within your portfolio, we continue to prefer to earn higher yields by allocating to bonds issued by companies rated below investment grade; however, we do remain cautious of the long-term returns in the lowest end of the credit spectrum and instead prefer bonds issued by companies with a more robust credit profile. The high-yield corporate bond allocation in the portfolio experienced positive returns over the period, delivering a significant portion of the relative value add as well.

During the period, the U.S. Federal Reserve increased rates twice in June and September by 0.25 percentage points, to 2.25 percent on the back of continued strong economic data. Expectations of higher inflation and a rising rate environment have led to higher bond yields in the U.S. across the yield curve. However, short-term interest rates have risen faster than long-term rates, leading to a flatter yield curve. U.S. Treasuries look more attractive to investors because of higher yields, but mainly in the short end of the curve currently. As U.S. interest rates have risen, the government bond portion of the portfolio faced a negative return over this period.

Internationally, the Fund does not hold any European or Japanese government debt given its near-zero yields provide little future return potential. In general, we remain cautious on emerging market fixed income generally, which lagged during the quarter given concerns around slower growth in China, tightening U.S. monetary policy and concerns about the potential impact of a deeper trade war between China and the U.S. There could certainly be future opportunity in emerging market credit as bond valuations become more attractive.

Within the context of the current interest rate environment, we remain focused on purchasing fixed-income securities issued by winning businesses with resilient cash flow, access to liquidity and a strong management team. We will continue to be selective as opportunities present themselves amid increased volatility in the markets.

RECENT DEVELOPMENTS

Investor preference for growth and momentum stocks is becoming a more crowded trade, particularly as passive money continues to pile into these names without regard for fundamentals due to a fear of missing out. Well-known American investor Philip Fisher once stated, "The stock market is filled with individuals who know the price of everything, but the value of nothing," which seems to sum up the current market environment. There are excesses forming in many areas of the market, not just marijuana stocks, which make up the new Wild West of investing. Other areas of excess include merger and acquisitions, where activity in the first nine months of 2018 has set a record, surpassing a previous high reached in 2007, as scarcity of targets is pushing up valuations. A record level of share buybacks in the U.S., financed by the 2017 Republican tax cut, has also helped prop up its equity market. Many corporate executives prefer buybacks because they push up earnings per share and their compensation (if tied to earnings per share metrics). Also, the resulting payoff from increased capital expenditure can take time to show results (possibly beyond their executive tenure).

As always, we remain focused on investing in winning businesses that are gaining market share and where our view of the business is different from other investors. Sometimes, this means our portfolio will act very differently from our peers and indexes, but we believe that valuations matter in the long term. We strive to add value for our clients over the long term.

Effective September 20, 2018, Tom Eisenhauer became a member of the Board of Governors ("BOG") and Independent Review Committee ("IRC"), and effective October 15, 2018, Mary Robertson resigned as a member of the BOG and IRC.

(1) This information is derived from the Fund's semi-annual and annual financial statements.

(2) Management expense ratio is calculated based on expenses charged to the Fund (excluding commissions and other portfolio transaction costs) and is expressed as an annualized percentage of daily average net assets for the period, including the Fund's proportionate share of any underlying fund(s) expenses, if applicable. The Effective HST tax rate is calculated using the attribution percentage for each province based on unitholder residency and can be different from 13%.

(3) The trading expense ratio represents total commissions and other portfolio transaction costs expressed as an annualized percentage of daily average net assets during the period, including the Fund's proportionate share of such expenses of any underlying fund(s), if applicable.

(4) The Fund's portfolio turnover rate indicates how actively the Fund's portfolio advisor manages its portfolio investments. A portfolio turnover rate of 100% is equivalent to the Fund buying and selling all of the securities in its portfolio once in the course of the fiscal period. The higher a Fund's portfolio turnover rate in a period, the greater the trading costs payable by the Fund in the period, and the greater the chance of an investor receiving taxable capital gains in the period. There is not necessarily a relationship between a higher turnover rate and the performance of a Fund. Portfolio turnover rate is calculated by dividing the lesser of the cost of purchases and the proceeds of sales of portfolio securities for the period, and excluding cash and short-term investments maturing in less than one year, and before assets acquired from a merger, if applicable, by the average of the monthly fair value of investments during the period.

(5) This information is provided for the period ended September 30, 2018 and the years ended March 31.
