How risky is it?

The value of the fund can go down as well as up. You could lose money.

One way to gauge risk is to look at how much a fund's returns change over time. This is called "volatility".

In general, funds with higher volatility will have returns that change more over time. They typically have a greater chance of losing money and may have a greater chance of higher returns. Funds with lower volatility tend to have returns that change less over time. They typically have lower returns and may have a lower chance of losing money.

How has the fund performed?

This section tells you how Class I securities of the fund have performed since inception. Returns are after expenses have been deducted. These expenses reduce the fund class' returns.

Year-by-year returns

Because Class I has been distributed under a simplified prospectus for less than one calendar year, there is no data available for this section.

Who is this fund for?

- are seeking an investment which can utilize short-selling, leverage and derivatives where appropriate to either maximize returns or mitigate negative returns
- can tolerate medium risk.

This rating is based on how much the fund's returns have changed from year to year. It doesn't tell you how volatile the fund will be in the future. The rating can change over time. A fund with a low risk rating can still lose money.

A word about tax

In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws of where you live and whether you hold the fund in a registered plan, such as a Registered Retirement Savings Plan or a Tax-Free Savings Account.

Keep in mind that if you hold your fund in a non-registered account, fund distributions are included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

The fund may pay CI a performance fee at the end of each calendar year equal to 15% of the amount by which the net asset value per unit at the end of such calendar year (before giving effect to any distributions by the fund since the High Water Mark (as defined in the prospectus) was determined, and adjusted to exclude the accrual of the performance fee during the calendar year) exceeds the High Water Mark multiplied by one plus the Hurdle Rate (as defined in the prospectus) multiplied by the number of units of that class outstanding at the end of such calendar year. If any units of a Fund are redeemed prior to the end of a calendar year, a performance fee may be payable on the redemption date in respect of each such units, as if the redemption date were the end of the calendar year. Performance fees will be calculated and accrued for each class on a daily basis during each calendar year.
