How risky is it?

The value of the fund can go down as well as up. You could lose money.

One way to gauge risk is to look at how much a fund's returns change over time. This is called "volatility".

In general, funds with higher volatility will have returns that change more over time. They typically have a greater chance of losing money and may have a greater chance of higher returns. Funds with lower volatility tend to have returns that change less over time. They typically have lower returns and may have a lower chance of losing money.

How has the fund performed?

This section tells you how Class F securities of the fund have performed since inception. Returns are after expenses have been deducted. These expenses reduce the fund's returns.

Returns of Class F1, F2, F3, F4 and F5 securities would be similar to Class F securities, but would vary as a result of the difference in the combined management and administration fees compared to Class F as set out in the fee decrease table under "Fund Expenses".

Year-by-year returns

Because these classes are new, there is no data available for this section.

Who is this fund for?

This fund may be suitable for you if you:

- want to receive income
- are investing for the medium term and/or long term
- can tolerate low risk
- are looking to benefit from fee discounts based on the amount of your investment

Risk rating

CI Investments Inc. has rated the volatility of this fund as low.

This rating is based on how much the fund's returns have changed from year to year. It doesn't tell you how volatile the fund will be in the future. The rating can change over time. A fund with a low risk rating can still lose money.

For more information about the risk rating and specific risks that can affect the fund's returns, see the "What is a Mutual Fund and What are the Risks of Investing in a Mutual Fund?" section of the fund's simplified prospectus.

No guarantees

Like most mutual funds, this fund doesn't have any guarantees. You may not get back the amount of money you invest.

Best and worst 3-month returns

Because these classes are new, there is no data available for this section.

Average return

Because these classes are new, there is no data available for this section.

A word about tax

In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws of where you live and whether you hold the fund in a registered plan, such as a Registered Retirement Savings Plan or a Tax-Free Savings Account.

Keep in mind that if you hold your fund in a non-registered account, fund distributions are included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

How much does it cost?

The following tables show the fees and expenses you could pay to buy, own and sell Class F, F1, F2, F3, F4 and F5 securities of the fund. The fees and expenses — including any commissions — can vary among classes of a fund and among funds. Higher commissions can influence representatives to recommend one investment over another. Ask about other funds and investments that may be suitable for you at a lower cost.

CI Preferred Pricing offers separate classes of securities that charge progressively lower combined management and administration fees compared to Class F securities. If you hold Class F securities and become eligible to hold Class F1, F2, F3, F4 or F5 securities under CI Preferred Pricing by meeting the applicable investment threshold, we will automatically switch your Class F securities into Class F1, F2, F3, F4 or F5 securities, as applicable, which have lower combined management and administration fees than Class F securities. Your account will be monitored and your securities will be automatically switched to the appropriate class of securities under CI Preferred Pricing with the lowest combined management and administration fees for which you are eligible. If you no longer meet the requirements to be eligible for a particular class of securities under CI Preferred Pricing, we will automatically switch your securities into the appropriate class under CI Preferred Pricing, which will have higher combined management and administration fees that will not exceed the Class F combined management and administration fees. See the fee decrease table under “Fund expenses” below and “Fees and Expenses” in the fund’s simplified prospectus. Speak to your representative for eligibility requirements for CI Preferred Pricing, its availability with your representative’s firm and other details.

1. Sales charges

There are no sales charges applicable to your class of securities.

2. Fund expenses

You don't pay these expenses directly. They affect you because they reduce the return you get on your investment.

The fund class' expenses are made up of the management fee, fixed administration fee, trading costs, and other expenses. Class F's annual management fee is 0.60% of the fund class's value and Class F's fixed administration fee is 0.17% of the fund class's value. Because Class F is new, its other expenses and trading costs are not available. Class F has the highest combined management and administration fees among Class F, F1, F2, F3, F4 and F5.
